EXPLANATION OF ROUTE OF THE "ON-TO-PARIS" MARCH GIVEN

The valley of the River Meuse, which is the route of a through railroad line from Berlin and Cologne to Paris, is the scene of German army operations.

According to the newspaper, Etiole, Belgium, German troops have reached Vise, on the Meuse, which is just over the border in Belgium. The important Belgian city of Liege is but 12 miles southwest of Vise. Liege is about 200 miles from Paris. The principal points mentioned in the dispatches can be found on any map, being places of importance.

Another report tells of the massing of a German army on the Belgian frontier opposite the Belgian province of Limburg, a short distance north of Liege. The Meuse forms the boundary between Limburg and German territory.

Seventy-five miles below Liege is Arlon, capital of the Belgian province of Luxembourg, which borders on the independent Grand Duchy of the same name. Dispatches reported from London, to the effect that German troops have occupied Arlon, are borne out, by Brussels dispatches, which state that the Germans are still pouring troops into the grand duchy of Luxembourg, and that a force of 100,000 is now massed along the frontier, some distance east of Dinant, Belgium. Dinant is on the Meuse, in the province of Namur, and the province of Luxembourg lies between it and the grand duchy of Luxembourg.

OAKLAND POLICEMEN HAVE OWN CREED

OAKLAND, CAL., Aug. 5.—Unique in the police departments of American cities is the "police creed" adopted by the Oakland force of peace guardians. This creed, which is published regularly at the head of the daily police bulletin, is as follows:

Our Police Creed.
We will never bring disgrace to this city by any act of dishonesty or cowardice, nor ever desert our suffering comrades in the ranks; we will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many; we will revere and obey the city's laws and do our best to inculcate a like respect and reverence in those about us who are prone to annul and set them at naught; we will strive unceasingly to lighten the public's sense of civic duty; that thus, in all these ways, we will transmit this city not only not less, but greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us.

ANCIENT ENGLISH LAW DECIDES FEDERAL SUIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—A law dating back to the time of Henry VIII in England was quoted as an authority in a decision handed down by the United States circuit court of appeals.

"Any person who shall confiscate goods that do not belong to him must reimburse the original owner," reads the law.

It was the case of Mary F. Rainey, suing the New York & Pacific Steamship company. She is the executrix of the estate of her husband, who was killed accidentally while employed as an engineer on the steamer Cadique in 1905. The court decided in favor of the steamship company.

Mrs. Ayres, the widow, is now destitute.

A subscription for Red Cross funds with which to take up the work of caring for those who fall in the battles of the Austro-Serbian war, has been started by Princess Sazarovich-Hrebellanovich, formerly Miss Eleanor Calhoun, a California actress, in Los Angeles. The princess with her husband was in America when the war talk began. The prince immediately prepared for his return to Serbia to take the field. The princess, with the fund raised in Los Angeles, plans to put a corps of nurses in the field which she talks of heading.

Lutheran College for Coast.

OAKLAND, CAL., Aug. 6.—The first Lutheran college to be erected in California has been started in Oakland and will be completed in a few months.

It will represent an outlay of $35,000, all but $5000 of which is now in the hands of the committee, and when finished will be used for the education of Lutheran students who are preparing for the ministry. It will be known as the California Concordia College.

The erection of the building was broached at the California conference of the Lutheran Synod in Los Angeles last year. The Rev. J. H. Theiss, pastor of the Zion German Lutheran church of Oakland, was appointed to superintend the work of raising the funds after five acres of valuable land in the city of Oakland had been donated by the educational branch of the society for the building. Mr. Theiss has been working on the task of raising the money, and has announced that he has succeeded in obtaining all but $5000. This will be on hand when needed, he said.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE AND TRIPLE ENTENTE LINE OF EUROPEAN POWERS

The triple alliance is a defensive military agreement between Germany, Austro-Hungary and Italy.

The triple entente is a similar understanding between Great Britain, France and Russia.

The triple alliance was first formed in 1882, and by its provisions the three powers were pledged to support one another in certain contingencies; it was organized to prevent encroachments of Russia and France, its terms were made definite in 1887, but are credited with having been modified as to Russia and France in 1893. The alliance was renewed in 1902 and again in 1907, to run until June 14, 1914, but it has been generally believed that it was renewed before June 14 for 12 more years. Recent developments tend to confirm this as a fact beyond dispute.

Great Britain formed a defensive alliance with Russia in 1907; the coalition is known as the triple entente, and its objects are to preserve the balance of power, a strengthening of the treaty law in the interests of peace and preserving the status quo.

War Likened to Chess

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Military experts here agreed that if the purpose of the general staffs of the French and German armies is to conceal the objects of their campaigns until completion of mobilization, they have succeeded wonderfully so far as the outside world is concerned at least.

Officers of the Army general staff said so far no facts had appeared in the news dispatches of the official reports which permit them to hazard a fair guess at what is in the minds of the great French and German strategists. The one thing they agree upon is the "contacts" reported from various points on the French and German border, like those which have preceded them, are inconsequential.

Such movements as the crossing of the German troops into French territory near Mars-la-Tour; the raid by the Germans across the Belgian frontier near Gemmenich, and the dropping of bombs from German aeroplanes into the French fortress at Lunerville are regarded as nothing more than "screens" for the tactics, behind which they are arranging their pawns for the great game which is to decide the future of continental Europe.

Shock at Toronto.

TORONTO, Aug. 7.—Although a state of war between Germany and England has been expected, the official announcement of the declaration came with a shock.

Then came a burst of patriotic fervor and the streets resounded with cheers for the empire.

Never since the memorable Pretoria night has this city witnessed such a spontaneous outburst of patriotism. All night bands paraded at the heads of crowds waving flags and cheering for the king and for the country.

Enthusiasm at Quebec.

QUEBEC, Aug. 6.—The announcement that England and Germany were at war was received with the greatest enthusiasm here, where English, French and Irish paraded together in a display of loyalty and patriotism such as has never before been witnessed in the ancient city of Champlain.

Reservists Need Provisions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—A conference to plan for the care of thousands of reservists pouring into the city, with scant prospect of being able to sail for the belligerent countries, will be held between federal immigration officials, and the state board of charities and the city department of charities, it was announced.

Reservists whose funds are limited have been cared for by the various immigrant homes maintained in this city by organizations of the European nations. The homes have not yet applied for assistance in this connection but are not expected to be able to meet the situation much longer unassisted.

PRICE OF DIAMONDS TAKES SHOOT UPWARDS

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Did you know that diamonds have been dirt cheap lately?

"Fact. Producers, dealers, jobbers—everybody losing money on them. Business all shot to pieces."

But it's better now, thank you. Today wholesale and retail diamond dealers are "readjusting" their stock. Prices have gone up. The young man whose fancy lightly turns to thoughts of solitaires will find when he betakes him to the jeweler that a least 2 per cent has been added to the cost of large diamonds. He may seek solace in the thought she will be satisfied with a smaller one.

Maybe she will, indeed—but—

The price of not such very large ones has gone up 10 per cent.

In other words, a diamond that was valued at $45 before the "readjustment" may come out on the counter marked $49.50.

Diamond Mine Combine.

What is said to be the only world trust on earth is responsible for the increase in the prices of diamonds. The trust is the result of a German-English alliance. No, it is not a military alliance, or anything like that. It is a business combination which was formed at London this month.

There was a conference between representatives of the three great diamond producing companies whose mines turn out 98 per cent of the world's total output.

Heretofore they had been bitter competitors. It was through their competition that the prices of these precious stones had been hammered down to a point which made it seem that marriage was no longer a lottery. When the conference was over it was decreed that there should be no more competition.

Three Firms Unite.

The three firms had consolidated. In it are the German Diamond company of Berlin, the DeBeers Consolidated Mines company and the Premier (Transvaal) Diamond Mining company.

A syndicate was formed to sell the DeBeers, German and Premier goods, so that competition should be abolished. The competition was held to be responsible for a surfeit of two grain and smaller stones in the world's market. An agreement was reached by the consolidated interests to raise the price of large stones—that is one-half karat and up—2 per cent and place an increase of 10 per cent upon the "fines" or small diamonds. Besides that it was arranged to curtail the output so that the market will never be overstocked.

W. G. Juergens of Juergens & Anderson, wholesale jewelers, explained today that diamond merchants today are sorting over their trays of diamonds, rearranging them to accord with the decree of the "triple alliance" of British and Teutonic monopolists and revising price lists.

OAKLAND, CAL., Aug. 7.—At a meeting of the Australasian Society here two score natives of Australia and New Zealand signified their desire to enroll for service in Australia should they be needed there during the progress of the European war. Fred Davison of Chicago, president of the American wing of the society, was present. It was announced that 10,000 Australians are available in California.
